David Jordan Cox is an exceptional 3D animator with a track record of completing projects on time, every time. He possesses expert-level knowledge of Autodesk Maya and Blender software. He is skilled in layouts, blocking, texturing, lighting and producing animations in various animation styles. He is a clear communicator with consistent follow-through—working alone or as a team partner to solve challenges. David demonstrates a strong work ethic and excellent organizational skills.

Currently, David is an independent 3D character animator. He has recently completed animation projects for Jim Gray Productions and Arts and Animation Vocational Training Studios where his animation work is featured to inspire young artists to continue to create and find their way.

David has worked in Vancouver, BC Canada for ICON Creative and Mainframe Studios as a character animator on Disney Junior's T.O.T.S Season 3 animated series and Three Barbie projects including a Netflix film, a two-season series and a Barbie Vlog for web platforms following established performance styles per the Director's guidance.

David is an Art Institute graduate with a Bachelor of Fine Arts degree in Media Arts and Animation. He has Animation Awards and Credits for:

- Best Web/App Series (Branded) for Barbie Vlog (Mattel TV) - Team
- 2022 Team Award – KidsScreen Award – Kids Digital Category
- Barbie: "Skipper and the Big Babysitting Adventure", Netflix animated film - Animator
- Barbie: "A Touch of Magic", Seasons 1 & 2 – Netflix animated series - Animator

For fun, David is an avid Sports fan and is serious about his Washington Commanders Football Team.
